

CARE HOME WASTE

The Hidden £3,000 Leak

Why Care Providers Overpay on Waste

Independent analysis from Millstone Compliance — Cambridge CISL-trained waste auditors.

Care providers fight for fair funding every day. Yet many are quietly losing thousands of pounds annually to a cost they rarely examine: waste disposal.

Recent analysis shows 70% of care home waste ends up in the wrong disposal stream. The most common issue is clinical waste misclassification. Offensive waste — incontinence pads and non-infectious soiled items — goes into orange bags (infectious waste) costing £650–850 per tonne.

It should go in tiger-stripe bags (offensive waste) at £150–300 per tonne. For a typical 40-bed home, this single error costs £2,000–£3,500 every year.

WHY DOES THIS HAPPEN?

Most waste setups were arranged by contractors years ago. No one independent has checked them since. Contractors profit from expensive classification — they have no incentive to recommend cheaper streams.
